Letter From Pennsylvania Woman Now In Paris Is Interesting

Depicts War Conditions, Bravery of France and Adds Touch of Fashion News For the Ladies

Mrs. Melissa Bigler has received a letter from a friend living in Paris, Mrs. Willis M. Kerr, who is a daughter of Commissioner Dale of this county, parts of which are quite interesting to the general public. The recipient of the letter has very kindly offered the letter for publication and we are glad to present it herewith. Mr. Kerr is associated with the Standard Oil Company in Paris.

Paris, May 10, 1917
My Dear Melissa and Jennie:

Now you are in the war; I am sure you have many friends who will be called. Nothing can be so awful as this war. One constantly marvels at the Germans. Can they be human beings? Never expect one ounce of sympathy or right doing from them. I heard a woman in England say: "Well, if the Germans ever invade England, we women know what we shall do. Take our lives."

The French people are a wonderfully demonstrative people and their show of patriotism is beautiful to see and experience. We have been at a number of "Welcome U. S. into the War Meetings." While all the speeches were in French and I only knew a word here and there, yet by their voice, gesture and wonderful applause I was just as excited as any one else and applauded when the others did. During one man's address the applause was deafening, people rose to their feet crying "Bravo" "Vivi Wilson" "Vivi U. S. A." Then they called to the band to play three times during his speech. They played the French and American national airs. These are thrilling times over here and I can see by our N. Y. papers that you too are not without thrills. And surely I am proud that I am an American. What a wonderful race. I am glad the British and French commissions of their best men are in the U. S. A. It will be an eye opener to them. Oh! how I would love to be with you for a day. It would be a busy one as I have some great things in my mind, and could tell you many things. We have passed through the most trying winter of our lives, but the belated spring is here and everything looks beautiful. I shall not go into detail about our life here because perhaps the censor would not let it go through. We are much in the dark as we cannot speak the language and do not know just what to do or not to do. I am very sure we want to do the right thing always and nothing to handicap the country in their valiant struggle.

Marian has gone into the American Ambulance as a helper in the dental department. She had to be vaccinated. After it was well she went to work, three weeks ago. Her hours are from 8:30 to 5:30. Fortunately we live only three blocks from the ambulance and she always comes home for her luncheon. The ambulance is a wonderful institution for good. Marian has one doctor she assists. She said they made eleven visits this morning in the wards. The facial wounds are many and frightful. I did not think Marian could endure it but she really is surprising us and she is treated with such consideration by the head of the department, we think she must be pleased with her work. She looks pretty in her blue uniform with white cap, collar and cuffs. If it is safe for Marian to come home this fall, she is going to Goucher college. Rachel lives in Garden City, Long Island. Marian can spend her vacations with Rachel. It seems foolish to plan as things are so uncertain. We have a five room furnished apartment in Nevilly just outside the Paris walls. I had a French maid for a month but thought I should lose my mind. It was worse than anything you could imagine, the same idea of cleanliness as the Chinese. So I am living in the same old way, but I am not so busy as at home. All on one floor is easier. I have a dreadful time doing my marketing, not speaking French. I do my talking with my hands and arms. I have lost all pride. I just have to get along. Marian is taking French lessons and can speak quite well. We go out for our dinner, any place we choose and enjoy going about. Paris is very interesting, but somehow I like London best. I suppose because we could understand the language. Sometimes I just want to have "my say." Oh so much, but—no good. They cannot understand me or I them. I must mention the styles, however, are not gotten one new thing. The les are too extreme for me any way. All dresses are short waisted do not become "fat" folks either.

Most of the spring gowns are shades of beige like my last summer suit, all having a narrow belt tied in front with long loops. They have pockets in coats and skirts. The hats are nothing unusual as I can see. Medium in size and large sailor shapes, much ribbon used also maline. Colors old blue, grey, rose and many black. There are a number of shops that have nothing but mourning apparel. It is the most beautiful I have ever seen, nearly all hats and bonnets have white crepe next to the face. I often see children dressed in mourning, and the show windows of little children's apparel is beyond description. Such elaborate dresses, coats and all fixings, much finer than the grown up clothes.

Early Adjournment of House Quite Unlikely

Avalanche of Bills to be Acted Upon by Legislators

Harrisburg, May 28.—Should the legislature decide to adjourn the House decision to adjourn finally on June 14, today would mark the beginning of the third from the last week.

But no one sees how it can adjourn finally then. It is more likely to be June 28. The question may be settled this week. No one seems to know. The House has 388 bills on its calendar, in all stages. The bulk of them are on third reading and final passage. The Senate has 123 bills. The House calendar always is larger than the Senate's because of the necessarily slower work in the larger body. Even by working three sessions a day—which hasn't been done yet this session—the House probably could not consider all the bills before it in time to pass them along to the Senate and have them considered there so as to adjourn June 24.

It is believed, moreover, that this week will be only half a legislative week. No one expects either house to meet on Memorial Day. If no session be held then it means that adjournment will be taken tomorrow until Monday of next week. This of course will further delay adjournment sine die.

Swiped Some Stuff At 5 And 10 A Grab

Shoplifters Squeeze One Thousand Dollars Worth At 5 and 10c Store

We read an interesting article in last week's Saturday Evening Post entitled "Hawking Merchandise" and were surprised at some of the statements therein, relative to the amount of losses sustained by the large stores as a result of the activities of shoplifters. We were discussing the matter with Manager Ward of local McCrory store and received a further and much greater surprise when he informed us that their loss during the past twelve months right here in Clearfield totaled almost one thousand dollars.

Just think of how many separate negotiations to swipe $973 at a five and ten cent store. During the year they managed to pick up some two dozen "kleptomaniacs" who were caught in the act and let go with a reprimand.

CHANGE OF NAME OF WHOLESALE GROCERS

The wholesale grocery firm of the Lauderbach-Barber Co., established in Philipsburg some years ago, and now having branches in DuBois, Pottsville, Clearfield, Bellefonte and Indian, this week changed its name to the Lauderbach-Zerby Co. The Barber interests, connected with the firm since its organization, have retired and R. H. Zerby, who has long been identified with the corporation, becomes an active member.

The success attending this concern has been very marked, and greater things are in store judging from the present outlook. Not only from the number of persons employed, but in other ways, this enterprise has been of great benefit to Philipsburg and the towns in which branches are located.

PITTSBURGH AIR MAN NARROWLY MISSES DEATH

Lieut. Thaw With The French Flyer Squadron In France Dashed To The Earth

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT UNKNOWN

(By United Press)
Paris, May 28.—Lieutenant William Thaw, of Pittsburgh, and Captain Harold Willis of Boston with Captain Thénault, in the Lafayette Flying Squadron of France miraculously escaped death while flying at the front according to word received here today. The plane in which the three were riding crashed to the ground while the machine was going at 140 miles per hour. None of the trio was seriously injured. They were all able to walk away and the machine was literally smashed to splinters. The cause of the accident is unknown.

Recent United Press dispatches from Henry Wood who visited the Americans in the Lafayette Flying Squadron told that the French government was to furnish the corps with the latest planes. According to the statement that the machine was going at the rate of 140 miles per hour gives rise to the belief that the machine was one of recent invention and the men were trying the new type out behind the firing line.

Admiral Sims Raised To Vice Admiral

Recognition For His Part in Making Expert Gunners of U. S. Sailors

Washington, May 28.—Rear Admiral Sims commander of the American fleet of destroyers co-operating with the allied fleet was today formally named Vice Admiral by President Wilson.

To Admiral Sims the United States owes the fact that America has the best gunners in the world. Sims went to England in 1902 and studied the British method and then returned to this country and introduced it in the navy. Sims is regarded as an expert on ordnance and gunnery. During 1915 he was commander of the Dreadnought Nevada and later elected President of the Naval War College. He was born in Canada 59 years ago.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED

BASEBALL GOSSIP

While 300 hitsmen are not plentiful in the Yankee outfit, Mr. Donovan certainly has a flock of winning heavy-hitters.

The old wheeze "Remember 1914" is still popular among followers of the Braves. Was it Confucius or "Germany" Schaeffer who said that lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

The Brooklyn Robins are not the only champions who have found tough picking this year. Los Angeles, the Pacific Coast champions, and Buffalo, the titleholders in the International, also have been up against it.

The Giants absolutely refuse to believe that Mitchell's Cubs are genuine pennant contenders. Perhaps the Cubs are somewhat doubtful of the fact themselves, being as low as they entry into the big doings was so sudden.

It doesn't pay to tease penitents by standing them on their heads for seven or eight straight wins. Being almost human, they are likely to turn on you. Ask "Rube" Ruth. He knows.

William Shillen is home from Erie for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Shillen on Gulch avenue.

RAILROAD PRESIDENT IS READY FOR THE WAR

Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Harriman railroads, and the power representing the interests of the late E. H. Harriman, has volunteered for Red Cross duty during the war. He thinks he is too old to go to the front, but he said he would give practically all his time to the Red Cross interests.

N. Y. Germans Organize To Dethrone Kaiser

They Want Bill to Hoe Potatoes With Cousin Nicholas

New York, May 28.—Germans in this country, loving liberty, organized a national propaganda today to dethrone the Kaiser under the name of the "friends of the German Republic," and a provincial revolutionary committee was established with headquarters at 140 East 19th street. Everything possible will be done to accord William Hohenzollern, of Berlin, the same fate that befell his cousin, Nicholas Romanoff of Petrograd. Mr. Romanoff is now hoeing potatoes. J. Koettgen wrote to Germans in the United States urging them to co-operate with the movement. This alliance, its leaders declare, will do more to win the support of the German people to back the United States government in this war in spirit as well as in words, than anything else.

Lansing Will Not Alter Position On Passports

Victor Berger Promises Loyalty But Continues Fight For Passport

(By United Press)
Washington, May 28.—The United States' position against passports to those attending the Stockholm Socialist conference is unchanged and will so remain, Secretary Lansing flatly told Victor Burger, of Milwaukee, who called to protest against the ruling. Burger said he would be a good American citizen and not attempt to leave the country although he had not yet completed his fight against the ruling.

FRENCH REPULSE RAIDS

(By United Press)
Paris, May 28.—Repulse of German raids on the front near Monte Blond was announced by the war office today. The raid was described as one of the most desperate German attempts to force the French to relinquish some of the recently gained territory. In the Champagne and north of Casquel and Pégon, German attacks were repulsed everywhere.

Mysterious Death At Carbon Mines Today

Albert Nelson Found Dead In Mike Turic's Shanty

Albert Nelson, a miner, aged about 50 years, was found lying dead on the floor of Mike Turic's shanty at Carbon Mines, about 10 o'clock this morning.

Nelson was a single man and had worked in the mines around this section for a number of years. He, with Turic and several other companions, had been indulging in a drinking bout for several days.

When Nelson's body was discovered on the floor of the shanty no one could be found who knew anything about the immediate circumstances surrounding his death, or whether the man had died from natural causes or been killed in a drunken brawl. There were bruises about his nose and eye, which might have been caused by falling, and District Attorney Welch and Sheriff McCloskey went to the scene this afternoon for the purpose of assisting Coroner Pollum in making an investigation.

Old Timer Returns To Aid State Organize For Conscription Day

Low Beidler Will Manage Affairs For McClain, Who Is Secretary of the State War Board

Harrisburg, May 28.—Employment of Colonel Lewis E. Beidler, of Philadelphia, to handle the detail work of arranging for selective service registration and to act as assistant to Lieutenant Governor McClain in the secretarial work of the state's "war board" brings back to the capitol a man who for more than a score of years has been one of the most conspicuous figures there—a man who has earned for himself a reputation for organization work which comes to comparatively few men in public life.

Low Beidler first came into the state's public life in 1895. In 1887 he had been appointed secretary to Edwin H. Filler when the latter was elected mayor of Philadelphia. In 1891 Edwin S. Stuart retained him in the same capacity. In 1895 he became private secretary to Daniel H. Hastings when the latter became governor. He was the governor's right hand man during the political storms of that administration. When William A. Stone succeeded Hastings Beidler became deputy secretary of the commonwealth and held the place longer than any other man has held it. Political exigencies forced him out in 1911, early in the John K. Tener administration.

Beidler went out of state office with a record of remarkable capacity for detail work. He had handled successfully many public functions—a formal reception, an inauguration, a monument dedication and what-not. When Pennsylvania decided that the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg should be celebrated in real style Beidler, by common consent, was given the job of traveling through other states and laying the plan before other legislatures. Then he was attached to the offices of the Pennsylvania commission which was planning the reunion. It wasn't long before the commission got affairs into a snarl. Result: Beidler was given virtually supreme command and told to "go to it." He went. He handled the reunion as successfully as General Meade handled the cause thereof—and with considerable more satisfaction to all concerned. It is as "the man who ran the Gettysburg reunion" that Low Beidler has since been best known.

When Lieutenant Governor McClain was elected secretary of the war board a few days ago he picked Beidler as his assistant above everyone else. Beidler got a warm welcome at the capitol.

"Feeling right at home," he laughed as he was installed in an office in the Lieutenant Governor's suite.

The first thing Beidler asked for was his "Gettysburg desk," a handsome mahogany rolltop which was in use in another department. Beidler had picked it personally to use when he was "running Gettysburg." Naturally it was surrendered to him at once.

Beidler, who always has been popular with newspaper men, was enjoying a chat with old friends and new ones in the Legislative Correspondents' association rooms the day he was appointed by Lieutenant Governor McClain. He recalled with special glee a dinner he gave the correspondents in 1895 at the outset of the Hastings administration. Among the corps was the late John H. Fow, a noted Philadelphia lawyer, at the time a staff man here for a Philadelphia paper.

Beidler had set the dinner for 6 o'clock so as not to interfere with newspaper work.

"And no formality boys," he admonished. "Just come in your working clothes." Few paid a special visit to a clothing store during the afternoon and arrived at the dinner wearing overalls. Just at present Beidler is doing little for the War Board. He has been detailed to see that sheriffs and magistrates are all supplied with the necessary blanks for selective service registration. Colonel Frank G. Sweeney, inspector general of the National Guard will handle the returns from the registration and compile and tabulate the figures and cards.

Lady From Montana Offers Amendment

Makes Maiden Speech and Gets Her Amendment Passed in Record Time

Washington, May 28.—Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, game but a little nervous, made her maiden speech in the House this afternoon. She introduced and had passed in five minutes, amid the wildest applause, an amendment that all food conservation work under the Lever bill should be done by women. Miss Rankin, after two months of virtual silence in the house caused a stir on the floor of the House as she was recognized as the "Lady from Montana" and as she handed her amendment to a page. The first of several ovations greeted the amendment. Miss Rankin, recognized by Representative Hamlin, in the chair, as the "Lady from Montana," standing in the center of the rear of the Chamber braced herself against the backs of the seats in the row ahead and began her first speech.

FIVE DETROITERS ARRESTED FOR TREASONABLE ACTS

Detroit, Mich., May 28.—Charged with treason, in connection with an alleged nation wide anti-conscription propaganda, five Detroiters were arrested by Federal agents here. The specific charge for which they were held was the alleged distribution of "Klondike" bills bearing the caption "Klondike the Draft," and announcing a Socialistic mass meeting to this end for June 3.

Several thousand circulars had been sent out before the men were taken into custody. The circulars, which were not to be registered, were alleged to have been issued by the Detroit Local of the Socialist party and quoted resolutions passed by that body.

Dr. John Collins, pastor of the Eleventh street church, delivered a most eloquent memorial sermon last evening to a large audience. Collins, an able speaker, expounded to his congregation the date and purpose of "Memorial Day."

Had Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

Miscreant Strings Wires Across Driveway at Country Club Grounds

A serious accident was narrowly averted at the grounds of the Clearfield-Curwensville Country club Sunday evening. About 8 o'clock Mrs. A. E. Patton of Curwensville, with a party of friends in her large touring car drove down to the Country club. In passing up the driveway and when near the club house, they ran into an obstruction, which but for the fact that the car was an exceptionally heavy one and was traveling slowly would no doubt have resulted quite seriously for the occupants of the machine.

The car was stopped and the chauffeur investigating found that some miscreant had stretched two wires across the driveway, fastening one and securely to a porch post and the other to a stake on the tennis court. The wires were stretched high enough to pass over the engine of the ordinary car and strike the occupants about the breast and would have undoubtedly caused serious injury had they been struck by a machine traveling at even a moderate rate of speed.

An Excellent Article On The Big Loan: It's Terms and Objects

Prepared By Authorized Representative of the Treasury Department For the United Press

Washington, May 28.—The big factors in modern warfare are men and money.

Most nations making ready for war first mobilize their man-power. The United States has reversed the usual order by first mobilizing its money-power. The reasons for this reversal are self-evident. This country, not being a military power, did not have its men ready for immediate fighting. But, being the richest nation in the world, its wealth was ready for action. So, in its anxiety to make its might immediately felt in greatest war of all times, it began marshaling its dollars.

The Liberty Loan means just what its title implies. It is our first big added to the joint activities of liberty loving nations to crush German autocracy and at that it stands for. It is our immediate substitute for an army. It is our offering to renew the credit of the fighting allies so they may not be hampered in their grim task, until we shall be able to place our army alongside theirs in the trenches.

The Liberty Loan was authorized by Congress within three weeks of the date of our recognition of a state of war with Germany. It outlined the greatest financial program ever undertaken by any nation on earth. It authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to use the credit of the nation to the extent of seven billions of dollars—five billions to be borrowed by the sale of bonds, and two billions to be raised by certificates of indebtedness. It provided that three billions of dollars of this money should be loaned to our European allies without profit to the United States. It fixed the interest rate at not to exceed 3 1/2 per cent and provided that it, at any time during the war, the United States issued other loans at a higher rate, these bonds would be convertible at the higher rate.

Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo immediately began to make available to the allies a portion of the credit represented by the certificates of indebtedness. Through the machinery of the Federal Reserve system banks were asked to subscribe two hundred million dollars of this amount. The response was overwhelming and the offering was almost immediately repeated with the same result. Secretary McAdoo made immediate loans to the allies as follows: Great Britain $325,000,000; France, $100,000,000 and Italy $100,000,000. A program was outlined to extend additional credit at the rate of a hundred million dollars a week.

This move for temporary relief completed, the Secretary of the Treasury set about the main task of war financing provided in the Bond act. He announced the issue of two billions of dollars worth of bonds to be distributed June 15 and for which subscriptions would be received up to that date. The response was indicative of the patriotic spirit of the nation and its ability to pay. Throughout the first day after this issue was offered to the public, subscriptions came by telegraph at the rate of a million dollars an hour. It was the plan of Secretary McAdoo to make this loan representative of the spirit of the people and to that end he decreed that the bonds should be issued in as small as $50 denominations so that the laborer, the man in the street and the shop girl might participate in it along with the banker, the broker and the merchant. In this particular it was kept true to its name—a loan in which all of the lovers of liberty could participate.

Offers to buy bonds did not constitute the only evidence of the nation's enthusiasm and loyalty. The offers to perform active service in making the loan a success were overwhelming. The law creating this loan provided that no commissions for the sale of bonds should be paid, but this restriction was superfluous. Bond brokers, bankers, investment houses, merchants, express companies and others volunteered to act as agents without charge. Many large employers of labor even volunteered to buy the bonds outright and let their employees repurchase them on the installment plan. To further exemplify the popular character of the loan, Secretary McAdoo created a woman's committee to assist in the sale and distribution of the bonds. To add to the attractiveness of the bonds as an investment, they were made tax free (except as to inheritance tax) and the interest is payable semi-annually, June 15th and December 15th.

Federal Reserve Banks were designated as fiscal agents and authorized to name committees in each Federal Reserve Bank District to have charge of the distribution of the bonds.

JUMP FROM BED IN MORNING AND DRINK HOT WATER

Open sluices of system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter, says authority.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank each morning before breakfast, keeps us looking and feeling fit.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, which will cost but little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AT TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

With an attendance of over five hundred, the Trinity Methodist Sunday school yesterday unfurled a beautiful silk flag, the formal presentation address being made by Capt. A. H. Woodward Esq., who, in eloquent speech told what our country's flag stands for. Major Meyers made an appropriate response. There was a fine program of stirring patriotic songs rendered by chorus choir and orchestra, and Albert Kennard sang "Your Flag and My Flag" with fine effect.

Superintendent Flegel asked for the reading of the names of the young men who have enlisted from Trinity Sunday school, and they are as follows:

Carl A. Austin, 19th Inf. Co. E., Ft. Sill, Okla.

Clarence Austin, 5th Engineers Reserve corps, Pittsburgh, Pa.

James N. Ball, Reg. army ort Slocum, N. Y.

Ray Callahan, Quartermaster general's dept., Governor's Island, N. Y.

Kress G. Drew, 1st Reg. Engineers Co. F. Washington Barracks.

John A.L. Flegel, 19th Inf. Co. H. Ft. Sill, Okla.

Walter Flegel, Field Artillery, Ft. Riley, Kan.

C. Irvin Hubler, Coast Artillery, Ft. Slocum, N. Y.

John Mapes, 34th Inf., El Paso Texas.

Lex McCloskey, 13th Reg. San Antonio, Texas.

Lex Miller, Co. A, 34th Inf., Sanders, Texas.

William B. Porter, Troop B, 16th Cavalry, Target range, Texas.

Beryl Reed, 34th Inf. Reg. Army, El Paso, Texas.

William Reed, 5th Engineers, Reserve Corps, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Albert Ross, Reg. Army, Ft. Slocum, N. Y.

Haywood Schacklette, Co. E. 9th Reciting Troop Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt.

B. Earl Shirey, Co. 4 Reserve Officers Training camp, Ft. Niagara, N. Y.

Kenneth Shivery, Navy, Mosquito Fleet, League Island, Phila.

Congregations both morning and evening filled the spacious auditorium. The morning sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Hartman, dealt with the subject of the "Word of God in Time of War," and by apt illustration showed that the Bible meet man's needs in peace and in war.

In the evening a splendid musical program was rendered. There were several selections by Lieutenant Sylvius on the organ, violin numbers by Mrs. Richard Paterson and a quartette and a solo by members of Trinity choir.

The large congregation thoroughly enjoyed the recital by these accomplished musicians.

BOROUGH MUST PAY DAMAGES

The jury in the case of H. M. Pentz vs. the Borough of Glen Hope, which was tried in Judge Bell's court Friday and Saturday, returned a verdict Saturday afternoon in favor of Mr. Pentz for $247.96. The verdict and interest on the award totals $261.60.

In this suit Mt. Pentz, who was represented by Miller & Hartwick, brought suit against the borough for damages to his property due to two floods which followed the changing of a water course in Glen Hope borough by the borough council. The damage asked for the first flood amounted in all to about $550, but this was disallowed, as the court figured, that this was but notice to the borough that their culverts were too small, and as the same were not repaired before the second flood the property owner had a right to recover for this damage.

Following the verdict Borough Solicitor John M. Urey made a motion for a setting aside of the same, and this will be argued in the near future.

Letter From Pennsylvania Woman Now In Paris Is Interesting

Depicts War Conditions, Bravery of France and Adds Touch of Fashion News For the Ladies

Mrs. Melissa Bigler has received a letter from a friend living in Paris, Mrs. Willis M. Kerr, who is a daughter of Commissioner Dale of this county, parts of which are quite interesting to the general public. The recipient of the letter has very kindly offered the letter for publication and we are glad to present it herewith. Mr. Kerr is associated with the Standard Oil Company in Paris.

Paris, May 10, 1917
My Dear Melissa and Jennie:

Now you are in the war; I am sure you have many friends who will be called. Nothing can be so awful as this war. One constantly marvels at the Germans. Can they be human beings? Never expect one ounce of sympathy or right doing from them. I heard a woman in England say: "Well, if the Germans ever invade England, we women know what we shall do. Take our lives."

The French people are a wonderfully demonstrative people and their show of patriotism is beautiful to see and experience. We have been at a number of "Welcome U. S. into the War Meetings." While all the speeches were in French and I only knew a word here and there, yet by their voice, gesture and wonderful applause I was just as excited as any one else and applauded when the others did. During one man's address the applause was deafening, people rose to their feet crying "Bravo" "Vivi Wilson" "Vivi U. S. A." Then they called to the band to play three times during his speech. They played the French and American national airs. These are thrilling times over here and I can see by our N. Y. papers that you too are not without thrills. And surely I am proud that I am an American. What a wonderful race. I am glad the British and French commissions of their best men are in the U. S. A. It will be an eye opener to them. Oh! how I would love to be with you for a day. It would be a busy one as I have some great things in my mind, and could tell you many things. We have passed through the most trying winter of our lives, but the belated spring is here and everything looks beautiful. I shall not go into detail about our life here because perhaps the censor would not let it go through. We are much in the dark as we cannot speak the language and do not know just what to do or not to do. I am very sure we want to do the right thing always and nothing to handicap the country in their valiant struggle.

Marian has gone into the American Ambulance as a helper in the dental department. She had to be vaccinated. After it was well she went to work, three weeks ago. Her hours are from 8:30 to 5:30. Fortunately we live only three blocks from the ambulance and she always comes home for her luncheon. The ambulance is a wonderful institution for good. Marian has one doctor she assists. She said they made eleven visits this morning in the wards. The facial wounds are many and frightful. I did not think Marian could endure it but she really is surprising us and she is treated with such consideration by the head of the department, we think she must be pleased with her work. She looks pretty in her blue uniform with white cap, collar and cuffs. If it is safe for Marian to come home this fall, she is going to Goucher college. Rachel lives in Garden City, Long Island. Marian can spend her vacations with Rachel. It seems foolish to plan as things are so uncertain. We have a five room furnished apartment in Nevilly just outside the Paris walls. I had a French maid for a month but thought I should lose my mind. It was worse than anything you could imagine, the same idea of cleanliness as the Chinese. So I am living in the same old way, but I am not so busy as at home. All on one floor is easier. I have a dreadful time doing my marketing, not speaking French. I do my talking with my hands and arms. I have lost all pride. I just have to get along. Marian is taking French lessons and can speak quite well. We go out for our dinner, any place we choose and enjoy going about. Paris is very interesting, but somewhat like London best. I suppose because we could understand the language. Sometimes I just want to have "my say." Oh so much, but—no good. They cannot understand me or I them. I must mention the styles, however, are not gotten one new thing. The les are too extreme for me any more. All dresses are short waisted do not become "fat" folks either.

Most of the spring gowns are shades of beige like my last summer suit, all having a narrow belt tied in front with long loops. They have pockets in coats and skirts. The hats are nothing unusual as I can see. Medium in size and large sailor shapes, much ribbon used also maline. Colors old blue, grey, rose and many black. There are a number of shops that have nothing but mourning apparel. It is the most beautiful I have ever seen, nearly all hats and bonnets have white crepe next to the face. I often see children dressed in mourning, and the show windows of little children's apparel is beyond description. Such elaborate dresses, coats and all fixings, much finer than the grown up clothes.

Early Adjournment of House Quite Unlikely

Avalanche of Bills to be Acted Upon by Legislators

Harrisburg, May 28.—Should the legislature decide to adjourn the House decision to adjourn finally on June 14, today would mark the beginning of the third from the last week.

But no one sees how it can adjourn finally then. It is more likely to be June 28. The question may be settled this week. No one seems to know. The House has 388 bills on its calendar, in all stages. The bulk of them are on third reading and final passage. The Senate has 123 bills. The House calendar always is larger than the Senate's because of the necessarily slower work in the larger body. Even by working three sessions a day—which hasn't been done yet this session—the House probably could not consider all the bills before it in time to pass them along to the Senate and have them considered there so as to adjourn June 24. It is believed, moreover, that this week will be only half a legislative week. No one expects either house to meet on Memorial Day. If no session be held then it means that adjournment will be taken tomorrow until Monday of next week. This of course will further delay adjournment sine die.

Swiped Some Stuff At 5 And 10 A Grab

Shoplifters Squeeze One Thousand Dollars Worth At 5 and 10c Store

We read an interesting article in last week's Saturday Evening Post entitled "Hawking Merchandise" and were surprised at some of the statements therein, relative to the amount of losses sustained by the large stores as a result of the activities of shoplifters. We were discussing the matter with Manager Ward of local McCrory store and received a further and much greater surprise when he informed us that their loss during the past twelve months right here in Clearfield totaled almost one thousand dollars. Just think of how many separate negotiations to swipe $973 at a five and ten cent store. During the year they managed to pick up some two dozen "kleptomaniacs" who were caught in the act and let go with a reprimand.

CHANGE OF NAME OF WHOLESALE GROCERS

The wholesale grocery firm of the Lauderbach-Barber Co., established in Philipsburg some years ago, and now having branches in DuBois, Pottsville, Clearfield, Bellefonte and Indianola, this week changed its name to the Lauderbach-Zerby Co. The Barber interests, connected with the firm since its organization, have retired and R. H. Zerby, who has long been identified with the corporation, becomes an active member. The success attending this concern has been very marked, and greater things are in store judging from the present outlook. Not only from the number of persons employed, but in other ways, this enterprise has been of great benefit to Philipsburg and the towns in which branches are located.

PITTSBURGH AIR MAN NARROWLY MISSES DEATH

Lieut. Thaw With The French Flyer Squadron In France Dashed To The Earth

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT UNKNOWN

(By United Press)
Paris, May 28.—Lieutenant William Thaw, of Pittsburgh, and Captain Harold Willis of Boston with Captain Thénault, in the Lafayette Flying Squadron of France miraculously escaped death while flying at the front according to word received here today. The plane in which the three were riding crashed to the ground while the machine was going at 140 miles per hour. None of the trio was seriously injured. They were all able to walk away and the machine was literally smashed to splinters. The cause of the accident is unknown.

Recent United Press dispatches from Henry Wood who visited the Americans in the Lafayette Flying Squadron told that the French government was to furnish the corps with the latest planes. According to the statement that the machine was going at the rate of 140 miles per hour gives rise to the belief that the machine was one of recent invention and the men were trying the new type out behind the firing line.

Admiral Sims Raised To Vice Admiral

Recognition For His Part in Making Expert Gunners of U. S. Sailors

Washington, May 28.—Rear Admiral Sims commander of the American fleet of destroyers co-operating with the allied fleet was today formally named Vice Admiral by President Wilson. To Admiral Sims the United States owes the fact that America has the best gunners in the world. Sims went to England in 1902 and studied the British method and then returned to this country and introduced it in the navy. Sims is regarded as an expert on ordnance and gunnery. During 1915 he was commander of the Dreadnought Nevada and later elected President of the Naval War College. He was born in Canada 59 years ago.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED

London, May 28.—German attacks northwest of Chervensy and south of Lens were repulsed and a number of prisoners were taken, Field Marshal Haig reported today. "The enemy suffered severe losses," the statement said.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

While 300 hitsmen are not plentiful in the Yankee outfit, Mr. Donovan certainly has a flock of winning heavy-hitters.

The old wheeze "Remember 1914" is still popular among followers of the Braves. Was it Confucius or "Germany" Schaeffer who said that lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

The Brooklyn Robins are not the only champions who have found tough picking this year. Los Angeles, the Pacific Coast champions, and Buffalo, the titleholders in the International, also have been up against it.

The Giants absolutely refuse to believe that Mitchell's Cubs are genuine pennant contenders. Perhaps the Cubs are somewhat doubtful of the fact themselves, being as low they entry into the big doings was so sudden.

It doesn't pay to tease penitents by standing them on their heads for seven or eight straight wins. Being almost human, they are likely to turn on you. Ask "Rube" Ruth. He knows.

William Shillen is home from Erie for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Shillen on Gulch avenue.

C. A. Gulick, a former well known Clearfielder who is now located in Pittsburgh spent Sunday with friends here.

RAILROAD PRESIDENT IS READY FOR THE WAR

Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the board of directors of the Harriman railroads, and the power representing the interests of the late E. H. Harriman, has volunteered for Red Cross duty during the war. He thinks he is too old to go to the front, but he said he would give practically all his time to the Red Cross interests.

N. Y. Germans Organize To Dethrone Kaiser

They Want Bill to Hoe Potatoes With Cousin Nicholas

New York, May 28.—Germans in this country, loving liberty, organized a national propaganda today to dethrone the Kaiser under the name of the "friends of the German Republic," and a provincial revolutionary committee was established with headquarters at 140 East 19th street. Everything possible will be done to accord William Hohenzollern, of Berlin, the same fate that befell his cousin, Nicholas Romanoff of Petrograd. Mr. Romanoff is now hoeing potatoes. J. Koettgen wrote to Germans in the United States urging them to co-operate with the movement. This alliance, its leaders declare, will do more to win the support of the German people to back the United States government in this war in spirit as well as in words, than anything else.

Lansing Will Not Alter Position On Passports

Victor Berger Promises Loyalty But Continues Fight For Passport

(By United Press)
Washington, May 28.—The United States' position against passports to those attending the Stockholm Socialist conference is unchanged and will so remain, Secretary Lansing flatly told Victor Burger, of Milwaukee, who called to protest against the ruling. Burger said he would be a good American citizen and not attempt to leave the country although he had not yet completed his fight against the ruling.

FRENCH REPULSE RAIDS

(By United Press)
Paris May 28.—Repulse of German raids on the front near Monte Blond was announced by the war office today. The raid was described as one of the most desperate German attempts to force the French to relinquish some of the recently gained territory. In the Champagne and north of Casquel and Pégon, German attacks were repulsed everywhere.

NEW COAL OPERATION

G. N. Ellenberger is engaged in opening a coal mine on the Kerr farm across the river from the New York Central yards, and expects to be able to operate same just as soon as he can get a side track connecting his operation with the New York Central and B. & P. roads.

FLOWERS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

All who will kindly furnish flowers for Memorial Day please bring or send to the court house on or before Wednesday morning, May 30. The ladies will meet in the Arbitration room 8:30 Wednesday morning to prepare the flowers.

MILITARY VISITORS

Major Meyers, Cap. Hargessheimer and Lieutenant Sylvius, of Company E, Third Regiment, now located at Huntington, were Clearfield visitors over Sunday.

Mysterious Death At Carbon Mines Today

Albert Nelson Found Dead In Mike Turic's Shanty

Albert Nelson, a miner, aged about 50 years, was found lying dead on the floor of Mike Turic's shanty at Carbon Mines, about 10 o'clock this morning.

Nelson was a single man and had worked in the mines around this section for a number of years. He, with Turic and several other companions, had been indulging in a drinking bout for several days.

When Nelson's body was discovered on the floor of the shanty no one could be found who knew anything about the immediate circumstances surrounding his death, or whether the man had died from natural causes or been killed in a drunken brawl. There were bruises about his nose and eye, which might have been caused by falling, and District Attorney Welch and Sheriff McCloskey went to the scene this afternoon for the purpose of assisting Coroner Pollum in making an investigation.

Old Timer Returns To Aid State Organize For Conscription Day

Lew Beidler Will Manage Affairs For McClain, Who Is Secretary of the State War Board

Harrisburg, May 28.—Employment of Colonel Lewis E. Beidler, of Philadelphia, to handle the detail work of arranging for selective service registration and to act as assistant to Lieutenant Governor McClain in the secretarial work of the state's "war board" brings back to the capitol a man who for more than a score of years has been one of the most conspicuous figures there—a man who has earned for himself a reputation for organization work which comes to comparatively few men in public life.

Lew Beidler first came into the state's public life in 1895. In 1887 he had been appointed secretary to Edwin H. Filler when the latter was elected mayor of Philadelphia. In 1891 Edwin S. Stuart retained him in the same capacity. In 1895 he became private secretary to Daniel H. Hastings when the latter became governor. He was the governor's right hand man during the political storms of that administration. When William A. Stone succeeded Hastings Beidler became deputy secretary of the commonwealth and held the place longer than any other man has held it. Political exigencies forced him out in 1911, early in the John K. Tener administration.

Beidler went out of state office with a record of remarkable capacity for detail work. He had handled successfully many public functions—a formal reception, an inauguration, a monument dedication and what-not. When Pennsylvania decided that the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg should be celebrated in real style Beidler, by common consent, was given the job of traveling through other states and laying the plan before other legislatures. Then he was attached to the offices of the Pennsylvania commission which was planning the reunion. It wasn't long before the commission got affairs into a snarl. Result: Beidler was given virtually supreme command and told to "go to it." He went. He handled the reunion as successfully as General Meade handled the cause thereof—and with considerable more satisfaction to all concerned. It is as "the man who ran the Gettysburg reunion" that Lew Beidler has since been best known.

When Lieutenant Governor McClain was elected secretary of the war board a few days ago he picked Beidler as his assistant above everyone else. Beidler got a warm welcome at the capitol.

"Feeling right at home," he laughed as he was installed in an office in the Lieutenant Governor's suite.

The first thing Beidler asked for was his "Gettysburg desk," a handsome mahogany rolltop which was in use in another department. Beidler had picked it personally to use when he was "running Gettysburg." Naturally it was surrendered to him at once.

Beidler, who always has been popular with newspaper men, was enjoying a chat with old friends and new ones in the Legislative Correspondents' association rooms the day he was appointed by Lieutenant Governor McClain. He recalled with special glee a dinner he gave the correspondents in 1895 at the outset of the Hastings administration. Among the corps was the late John H. Fow, a noted Philadelphia lawyer, at the time a staff man here for a Philadelphia paper.

Beidler had set the dinner for 6 o'clock so as not to interfere with newspaper work.

"And no formality boys," he admonished. "Just come in your working clothes."

Few paid a special visit to a clothing store during the afternoon and arrived at the dinner wearing overalls. Just at present Beidler is doing little for the War Board. He has been detailed to see that sheriffs and magistrates are all supplied with the necessary blanks for selective service registration. Colonel Frank G. Sweeney, inspector general of the National Guard will handle the returns from the registration and compile and tabulate the figures and cards.

Lady From Montana Offers Amendment

Makes Maiden Speech and Gets Her Amendment Passed in Record Time

Washington, May 28.—Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, game but a little nervous, made her maiden speech in the House this afternoon. She introduced and had passed in five minutes, amid the wildest applause, an amendment that all food conservation work under the Lever bill should be done by women. Miss Rankin, after two months of virtual silence in the house caused a stir on the floor of the House as she was recognized as the "Lady from Montana" and as she handed her amendment to a page. The first of several ovations greeted the amendment. Miss Rankin, recognized by Representative Hamlin, in the chair, as the "Lady from Montana," standing in the center of the rear of the Chamber braced herself against the backs of the seats in the row ahead and began her first speech.

FIVE DETROITERS ARRESTED FOR TREASONABLE ACTS

Detroit, Mich., May 28.—Charged with treason, in connection with an alleged nation wide anti-conscription propaganda, five Detroiters were arrested by Federal agents here. The specific charge for which they were held was the alleged distribution of "Karl's Draft," and announcing a Socialistic mass meeting to this end for June 3.

Several thousand circulars had been sent out before the men were taken into custody. The circulars, which were not to be registered, were alleged to have been issued by the Detroit Local of the Socialist party and quoted resolutions passed by that body.

Dr. John Collins, pastor of the Eleventh street church, delivered a most eloquent memorial sermon last evening to a large audience. Collins, an able speaker, expounded to his congregation the date and purpose of "Memorial Day."

Had Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

Miscellaneous Strings Wires Across Driveway at Country Club Grounds

A serious accident was narrowly averted at the grounds of the Clearfield-Curwensville Country club Sunday evening. About 8 o'clock Mrs. A. E. Patton of Curwensville, with a party of friends in her large touring car drove down to the Country club. In passing up the driveway and when near the club house, they ran into an obstruction, which but for the fact that the car was an exceptionally heavy one and was traveling slowly would no doubt have resulted quite seriously for the occupants of the machine.

The car was stopped and the chauffeur investigating found that some miscerant had stretched two wires across the driveway, fastening one and securely to a porch post and the other to a stake on the tennis court. The wires were stretched high enough to pass over the engine of the ordinary car and strike the occupants about the breast and would have undoubtedly caused serious injury had they been struck by a machine traveling at even a moderate rate of speed.

The stretching of these wires was certainly a despicable and dangerous trick and the members of the Country club will place the matter of arresting the perpetrator in the hands of the District Attorney Welch and County Detective Jeffries and every effort will be made to bring the culprit to justice.

Read the Liberty Loan article in this issue.

Secretary Lane of the Department of the Interior has circulated the country with a letter, accompanied with a list of themes suggested for discussion by educational institutions in commencement day exercises. The list of subjects is admirably calculated to stir up the mentalities of our graduating classes and the appeal of Mr. Lane should meet with nation wide response. It should be everlastingly ground into the very fibre of American students that German victory would mean the very death blow to individualism. They should be acquainted with the steps taken, and to be taken, to avert a world wide disaster. They should know that unless we follow the example of our allies and forswear the days of silken ease the iron heel of the Hun may yet stamp us into our own sod.

CONSCRIPTION A FORM OF DEMOCRACY

A prominent man has asserted that the public school is the great democratic institution of the United States. It is the institution where rich and poor, regardless of religion, politics or social status meet upon an absolute equality. Conscription may look like an institution born of necessity and having its being by force but like the public school, it too is an institution where rich and poor, regardless of religion, politics or social position meet upon an absolute equality.

America, drunk with prosperity and blinded to danger from foreign foe by inculcated egotism and conceit, can never again raise a large volunteer army. In Colonial days men in all walks of life experienced oppression which fired them with patriotism and they had the knowledge that they had to fight for their very existence. Today our nation has grown to such a size that we cannot appreciate our danger. Our foes have done injury to our commerce and our trade and few are capable of understanding that in time, that injury will be felt by every man, woman and child in the nation.

BUSINESS AND THE OUTLOOK

The news last week was good. Unofficial interim crop reports, and the official crop weather report, were encouraging. An estimate of 700,000,000 bushels of wheat this year had a marked effect on the Chicago grain market. It is noticeable that with heavy taxation impending, strenuous efforts to float a great Government loan, and the unknown cost of a great war, stocks are recovering. This process, which began ten days ago, made decided progress last week, and speculation has broadened.

Bank clearings continue at a high level, those last week being about the same as for the week before. The unusual financing now going on has something to do with this, and so has the high level of prices. But the former is not a very large factor, and the latter has evidently not impaired buying ability; the bank clearings last week were 21.2 per cent above those of a year ago which were then almost unprecedented. Manufacturing concerns are extremely busy, the Government orders cutting a large share with them. Interest and dividend disbursements in June are $29,000,000 above those of last year, and dividends of the Fall River mills for the last quarter established a new high record. Trade experts discover some increase of economy and retrenchment among consumers, but this is not very apparent in the trade returns yet.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

HOW KURT CHOPPED WOOD

Poor Old Kurt; Baggard Hard.

[Adapted from Grimm's Fairy Tales.]

JACK and Evelyn left their teeter board to listen to daddy's bedtime story. "There was once an old soldier who served his king faithfully through long wars. These lasted many years, but at last peace came. Then the army was broken up and honest Kurt was left without pay or reward and sent about his business. Unfortunately his business was no business. He knew nothing about any work except that of war. All his life he had been fighting and never had time to learn any trade. So when peace came he hardly knew how to earn his living. "When he was mustered out of the army he set out on his homeward journey in a very downcast mood till one evening he came to the edge of a deep wood. "The road led right through this wood, so he pushed forward into the darkness. But he had not gone far when he saw a light glimmering among the trees. Toward it Kurt bent his weary steps. He soon came to a little hut, where lived an old witch. "Poor old Kurt begged hard for a night's lodging and some supper, but the old witch would not listen to him. However, she could not get rid of him very easily and at last said, 'I think I will take pity on you this once, but if I do you must dig over all my garden in the morning.' "Old Kurt agreed readily to this task. 'Hungry men must not be fussy,' he said to himself. "So because he was very hungry and had nothing else to work at he became the old witch's guest on her own terms. "Did she bewitch him?" asked Jack. "The next day he kept his word and dug her whole garden all over quite neatly. The job lasted all day, and that evening, when the old witch would have sent him away, Kurt said, 'I am weary from my day's work and I must beg that you will let me stay here all night.' "The old witch vowed that she would not let him stay, but after a great deal of talk Kurt carried his point on the terms of chopping up a whole cart-load of wood for her the next day. "She was a shrewd old witch, you see, and this minute your daddy wishes he had an old soldier to dig up our garden! I would pay him better than just a night's lodging, I assure you." "You have a young soldier who will dig the garden for you, daddy," said Jack, climbing into daddy's lap.

Letters to the Editor

Clearfield, Pa., May 23, 1917.

Editor Progress:

Being a life-long resident and taxpayer of Clearfield Borough, and since your excellent paper has requested citizens to give expression on the pending hog question, I desire to do so in the following lines.

In the first place I desire to say that I have personally discussed the pig question with various persons who have kept pigs and their experience is that pigs, if they are properly kept and cared for, are not as much of a nuisance as a sow or horse stable is and are not one bit more obnoxious. And it has been my own experience that I can keep three hogs and can sell one hog and have the other two just about clear, even at the cost of feed at the present time. Look what this means to the poor working man. It simply means that he is able to secure his winter's supply of meat at a gradual cost and in such a manner so he hardly misses what it does cost him, whereas if he were not permitted to keep hogs he is compelled to plunk down at one time all that it costs him for his meat.

Our claim is that if hogs are properly kept and cared for they are not any more obnoxious in a community than the average horse and cow stable. So, in justice to the working man and his family, we say let them keep hogs. A very good plan would be to permit the keeping of hogs, but compel each person to take out a license to be issued by the Council, allowing them to keep not more than two hogs, and let this license be applied toward paying the salary of the Health Officer, whose duty it would be to see to it that hogs were kept in proper condition, with good floors and permit the formation of no wallowing places in or about the pens.

Another point that would work out in a profitable way to the Borough would be in the eliminating of the work on the part of the Borough of gathering up so much garbage in the town, as the greater part of this would be utilized as feed for the hogs, and instead of hauling this garbage away it would be going toward making meat for the workingman's table.

We may have something more to say on the subject, but in our opinion people who so desire to do so should be permitted to raise a hog or two, and if under the proper restrictions, it would not prove obnoxious to anyone.

An Excellent Article On The Big Loan: It's Terms and Objects

Prepared By Authorized Representative of the Treasury Department For the United Press

Washington, May 28.—The big factors in modern warfare are men and money.

Most nations making ready for war first mobilize their man-power. The United States has reversed the usual order by first mobilizing its money-power. The reasons for this reversal are self-evident. This country, not being a military power, did not have its men ready for immediate fighting. But, being the richest nation in the world, its wealth was ready for action. So, in its anxiety to make its might immediately felt in greatest war of all times, it began marshaling its dollars.

The Liberty Loan means just what its title implies. It is our first big added to the joint activities of liberty loving nations to crush German autocracy and at that it stands for. It is our immediate substitute for an army. It is our offering to renew the credit of the fighting allies so they may not be hampered in their grim task, until we shall be able to place our army alongside theirs in the trenches.

The Liberty Loan was authorized by Congress within three weeks of the date of our recognition of a state of war with Germany. It outlined the greatest financial program ever undertaken by any nation on earth. It authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to use the credit of the nation to the extent of seven billions of dollars—five billions to be borrowed by the sale of bonds, and two billions to be raised by certificates of indebtedness. It provided that three billions of dollars of this money should be loaned to our European allies without profit to the United States. It fixed the interest rate at not to exceed 3 1/2 per cent and provided that it, at any time during the war, the United States issued other loans at a higher rate, these bonds would be convertible at the higher rate.

Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo immediately began to make available to the allies a portion of the credit represented by the certificates of indebtedness. Through the machinery of the Federal Reserve system banks were asked to subscribe two hundred million dollars of this amount. The response was overwhelming and the offering was almost immediately repeated with the same result. Secretary McAdoo made immediate loans to the allies as follows: Great Britain $325,000,000; France, $100,000,000 and Italy $100,000,000. A program was outlined to extend additional credit at the rate of a hundred million dollars a week.

This move for temporary relief completed, the Secretary of the Treasury set about the main task of war financing provided in the Bond act. He announced the issue of two billions of dollars worth of bonds to be distributed June 15 and for which subscriptions would be received up to that date. The response was indicative of the patriotic spirit of the nation and its ability to pay. Throughout the first day after this issue was offered to the public, subscriptions came by telegraph at the rate of a million dollars an hour. It was the plan of Secretary McAdoo to make this loan representative of the spirit of the people and to that end he decreed that the bonds should be issued in as small as $50 denominations so that the laborer, the man in the street and the shop girl might participate in it along with the banker, the broker and the merchant. In this particular it was kept true to its name—a loan in which all of the lovers of liberty could participate.

Offers to buy bonds did not constitute the only evidence of the nation's enthusiasm and loyalty. The offers to perform active service in making the loan a success were overwhelming. The law creating this loan provided that no commissions for the sale of bonds should be paid, but this restriction was superfluous. Bond brokers, bankers, investment houses, merchants, express companies and others volunteered to act as agents without charge. Many large employers of labor even volunteered to buy the bonds outright and let their employees repurchase them on the installment plan. To further exemplify the popular character of the loan, Secretary McAdoo created a woman's committee to assist in the sale and distribution of the bonds. To add to the attractiveness of the bonds as an investment, they were made tax free (except as to inheritance tax) and the interest is payable semi-annually, June 15th and December 15th.

Federal Reserve Banks were designated as fiscal agents and authorized to name committees in each Federal Reserve Bank District to have charge of the distribution of the bonds.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AT TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

With an attendance of over five hundred, the Trinity Methodist Sunday school yesterday unfurled a beautiful silk flag, the formal presentation address being made by Capt. A. H. Woodward Esq., who, in eloquent speech told what our country's flag stands for. Major Meyers made an appropriate response. There was a fine program of stirring patriotic songs rendered by chorus choir and orchestra, and Albert Kennard sang "Your Flag and My Flag" with fine effect.

Superintendent Flegel asked for the reading of the names of the young men who have enlisted from Trinity Sunday school, and they are as follows:

Carl A. Austin, 19th Inf. Co. E., Ft. Sill, Okla.

Clarence Austin, 5th Engineers Reserve corps, Pittsburgh, Pa.

James N. Ball, Reg. army ort Slocum, N. Y.

Ray Callahan, Quartermaster general's dept., Governor's Island, N. Y.

Kress G. Drew, 1st Reg. Engineers Co. F. Washington Barracks.

John A.L. Flegel, 19th Inf. Co. H. Ft. Sill, Okla.

Walter Flegel, Field Artillery, Ft. Riley, Kan.

C. Irvin Hubler, Coast Artillery, Ft. Slocum, N. Y.

John Mapes, 34th Inf., El Paso Texas.

Lex McCloskey, 13th Reg. San Antonio, Texas.

Lex Miller, Co. A, 34th Inf., Sanders, Texas.

William B. Porter, Troop B, 16th Cavalry, Target range, Texas.

Beryl Reed, 34th Inf. Reg. Army, El Paso, Texas.

William Reed, 5th Engineers, Reserve Corps, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Albert Ross, Reg. Army, Ft. Slocum, N. Y.

Haywood Schacklette, Co. E. 9th Reciting Troop Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt.

B. Earl Shirey, Co. 4 Reserve Officers Training camp, Ft. Niagara, N. Y.

Kenneth Shivery, Navy, Mosquito Fleet, League Island, Phila.

Congregations both morning and evening filled the spacious auditorium. The morning sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Hartman, dealt with the subject of the "Word of God in Time of War," and by apt illustration showed that the Bible meet man's needs in peace and in war.

In the evening a splendid musical program was rendered. There were several selections by Lieutenant Sylvius on the organ, violin numbers by Mrs. Richard Paterson and a quartette and a solo by members of Trinity choir.

The large congregation thoroughly enjoyed the recital by these accomplished musicians.

BOROUGH MUST PAY DAMAGES

The jury in the case of H. M. Pentz vs. the Borough of Glen Hope, which was tried in Judge Bell's court Friday and Saturday, returned a verdict Saturday afternoon in favor of Mr. Pentz for $247.96. The verdict and interest on the award totals $261.60.

In this suit Mr. Pentz, who was represented by Miller & Hartwick, brought suit against the borough for damages to his property due to two floods which followed the changing of a water course in Glen Hope borough by the borough council. The damage asked for the first flood amounted in all to about $550, but this was disallowed, as the court figured, that this was but notice to the borough that their culverts were too small, and as the same were not repaired before the second flood the property owner had a right to recover for this damage.

Following the verdict Borough Solicitor John M. Urey made a motion for a setting aside of the same, and this will be argued in the near future.

DECORATION DAY

Doubly Significant This Year--For, As The Nation Pay Tribute to The Heroes Who Rallied to The Flag in '61--The Men of '17
Prepare to Emulate Their High Example.

When grandmother was a girl, she celebrated Decoration Day in frills, flounces, furbelows and a hoop skirt. The modern maid in her blouse and correctly tailored wash skirt is quite as patriotic—and equally charming. Whatever your Decoration Day plans may be, you will wish to be correctly costumed—and correct summer attire must take into consideration coolness and comfort as well as style—so we unhesitatingly recommend one of the unusually attractive new models in

READY-NEW MIDDY BLOUSES AT $1, $1.50 and $1.95

OUR 95c WAIST VALUES ARE THE TALK OF THE TOWN

We have created almost a sensation with the waists we are selling at 95c and there is not any wonder, for they look more like $2 and $3 waists than 95c waists. The styles are smart; the waists look exceedingly good. Made of voile, fancy weave materials and organdies. Some of them are lace trimmed with large sailor collars. Trimmed with embroidery pearl buttons and sport designs.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE PRETTY HATS FOR SUMMER?

Displayed in the Millinery section are a group of white hats. They are typically summery in appearance. Some are so light, you hardly know you had one on your head. Among the favorites are wide brim, sailor effects, also drooping brims. Made of Georgette crepe, maline and milans. A number are trimmed with daisies, ribbons and white flowers. They will add a new note to your white summer dresses. Prices $2.00 to $12.00
